

DELIVERING SCALABLE SOLUTIONS

Fort Bliss Army Medical Center
El Paso, TX

StudioCraft worked with a dealer partner to quote, design, engineer, build, ship, and install 94 unique nurses stations for a 1.1 million-square-foot Army hospital complex in El Paso, Texas.

This project was a highly competitive bid and StudioCraft's custom craft capabilities were a great differentiator for the dealer to close the sale. We were able to identify and create a number of modules that would be common among all of the nurses stations, optimizing our manufacturing process and quote.

To ensure the quality of each station, we fully assembled all 94 stations at our factory before breaking them down into modules and shipping them to the client. Once on site, our experienced builders installed each unit. All of this diligence ensured that the facility was able to open on time and on budget.
