Reception furniture plays a critical role in enhancing the guest and employee experience—especially when it can offer the performance of traditional systems furniture with the look and shape of custom built-ins.

Our dealer partner had already outfitted the entire facility with office furniture, but they needed StudioCraft's help executing specialized pieces that required curves that standard products simply cannot support, including a 50-foot-long registration desk, the City Hall Chambers desks, and a security desk.

StudioCraft team produced the large customer service desk in eight-foot sections to fit the exact profile of a matching soffit. This allowed for efficient packing, shipping, and installation.
