

FUNCTIONALITY THROUGH HYBRID APPLICATIONS

Healthcare Expansion Project
Denver, CO

StudioCraft has a longstanding partnership with a dealer who was completing work for a healthcare tower expansion. After several successful collaborations on outpatient clinics, we had the opportunity to partner with them on this project.

StudioCraft built a hybrid application that blends modular frames with custom built elements to give the hospital the exact functionality they were looking for. These nurse stations feature woodgrain laminate paired strategically with Corian tops and sides for increased durability.

In addition, our team created surrounds for the monitors to ensure all of the furniture, including the standard modular product the dealer provided, was perfectly matched and seamlessly integrated.

Partnering with StudioCraft allowed this dealer to win work that may have been directed to millwork and resulted in a sleek, functional outcome.
