

DURABILITY BY DESIGN

Baylor Scott & White
Cardiovascular Clinic
Dallas, TX

For the Baylor Scott & White Cardiovascular Clinic in Dallas, durability was a top priority. The clinic needed nurse stations that would stand up to heavy daily use in a high-traffic environment. StudioCraft was brought in to produce three desks that would meet these needs while also adhering to a tight schedule.

The result was a complete millwork desk system clad in Corian and featuring two levels of stainless steel crash rails. We also integrated a junction box within the interior of each desk, allowing the clinic to run power through the stations with ease.

All three desks were fabricated to seam together easily on site. Our team delivered on a Friday and installed over the weekend, allowing the facility to resume essential operations without interruption.

This project showcases StudioCraft's ability to deliver high-performance, custom solutions in demanding healthcare environments that balance durability and ease of installation.
